COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Bids on the police car were opened Oct. 2 and the low bidder was Israelson Motors in Rumford. The low bid was $2,247. Delivery has been promised in two to three weeks. The car will be a 1966 Chevrolet four door with an automatic transmission. As an extra we are having a positive traction rear end.

We have had very good co-operation from the taxpayers in regard to their 1967 taxes. Several have paid before they received the tax bills. So far it has saved the town money as we have not had to borrow additional funds for current expenses. There has been some in excess of $6,700 paid so far.

Of the parcels that were advertised last week as town owned property, two former owners have redeemed their property. Anyone who is considering bidding may contact this office as to whether the lots they are interested in are still available. This week there is a correct list in the paper.

HUNTERS TAKE NOTICE

With the opening of some species of game to hunting, the Maine Fish and Game Dept. issues this reminder to hunters.

Duck hunters must purchase a federal duck stamp, available at most post offices. It is not needed for woodcock or snipe.

All those using boats, including duck hunters, should note that effective Oct. 7, all motorboats, regardless of the horsepower of the motor, must carry at least one U. S. Coast Guard approved life saving device for each person aboard.

Anyone hunting with firearms during the Maine deer season this year and next south of U. S. Route 2 and west of the Kennebec River, shall wear fluorescent orange clothing visible from all sides, except when hunting waterfowl from a boat or blind.

It is illegal to use any 22 rim-fire firearm, except 22 magnum, for deer. This is a new law which will be in effect this year also.

A Maine driver's license is no longer sufficient proof of residence in Maine for the purpose of buying a resident hunting, fishing, or combination license. Required proof is a poll tax receipt for the year previous to the year of application, or satisfactory proof that the person was a tax exempt, had had the tax abated, or was not required by law to pay a poll tax.

John M. Stalnaker, president of NMSC, said "Although Commended students advance no further in the Merit Scholarship competition, their outstanding record in a nationwide program deserves public recognition. Their significant academic attainment gives promise of continued success in college."

NEW STATE LAW REGULATES SNOW TRAVELERS
Starting with snowfall, a new Maine law will affect a growing number of people. That's the one regulating the use of snow traveling vehicles.

If they're used as land vehicles by the operator, they will have to be registered and carry identification number. They can't be used as public conveyances. If they're used as public conveyances, they must be registered and carry identification number. No one under 14 may drive one without a public way.

It will be unlawful to drive one on a public way if the operator is under 14 years of age or if the vehicle is not properly registered and carries identification number.

And all such vehicles must have sufficient snow tires and chains to travel safely on snow and ice covered roads.

Mrs. Martha Hendon was home over the week end from Washington State College, Moscow, and Mrs. Vernon Brown from Farmington State College.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carson and family were guests a few days last week of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Campbell and family of Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Carson and family of New Canaan.

FORMER DEVELOPMENT OFFICIAL NAMES COUNTY IN $10,000 SUIT

A former employee of the Oxford County Economic Development Office has filed a $10,000 law suit against the county for breach of contract.

Alfred E. Wallen, assistant director of the development office only such county organization in the state, filed the suit through an attorney at the clerk of courts office at South Paris late last month.

The suit was formally filed by attorney William E. McCarthy of the Rumford law firm of McCarthy, Bellevue and Bellevue.

Mr. Wallen was released from his $3,000 a year post by the Board of Commissioners last May following a cutback in the county budget by the state legislature.

Clock of Courts Rupert Alford said late last week the suit would not be heard during the current term of superior court. He said it appeared reasonable to assume it would be heard at the February term in Rumford.

Mr. Wallen was one of two employees to four-year contract with the county commissioners when the development office was established in June 1965.

The other employee was Sam Michael, former development office of Lewiston. Michael's contract called for $19,000 a year, while Wallen was slated to receive $3,000 annually.

During the last year and a half, Mr. Wallen was paid $10,000, the department was budgeted at $10,000, and Mr. Wallen was paid $10,000.

FOUR INJURED IN ACCIDENT AT WEST BETHEL, SATURDAY

A highway mishap involving three vehicles near Harvey's Restaurant at West Bethel early last Saturday afternoon resulted in injuries to four persons.

Reportedly the accident occurred when a 1961 Buick sedan, operated by Mrs. Florence E. Swanson, 53 of East Weymouth, Mass., was traveling west on Route 2 and turned left toward the parking lot at the restaurant. As Mrs. Swanson turned, she collided with a 1966 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Lillian Pelchat, 41 of Dryden, attempted to pass a pulp truck immediately following the Swanson vehicle, and the two cars collided. It is thought that Mrs. Swanson's signal of intention to turn was obscured from the Pelchat vehicle by the empty pulp truck.

OXFORD GRAND JURY RETURNS INDICTMENTS

The Oxford County Grand Jury rose Wednesday and failed to bring an indictment against former Sheriff Lester C. Horton. The main item during the long session of any Oxford County Grand Jury in history was the investigation of the controversial former sheriff.

The Grand Jury brought in a total of 23 indictments and three secret indictments. They acted on 62 appeals from the 11th District Court. Southern Oxford County Division.

The Grand Jury went into session on Oct. 3 and the Horton case occupied a greater part of their time.

HUNTERS URGED TO JOIN IN CAMPAIGN AGAINST LITTER

Thousands of hunters will be invading Maine woods this fall and the Keep Maine Scenic Committee has appealed to them to join in the campaign against litter and other blight.

"We're convinced that most sportsmen respect this state's natural beauty," Chairman Richard Woodbury said. He said that a Keep America Beautiful, Inc., poll of litter-prevention leaders across the nation attributed only five per cent of the litter found in rural areas to hunters and fishermen. Motorists and picnickers were pinpointed as the major sources of the trash.

Woodbury made four suggestions for sportsmen:

1 Take the responsibility for your litter. Take out what you take into wildlands.

2 Take a good look at your hunting camp if you are the owner. Make sure it isn't an eyesore.

3 "We've got too many illegal dumps on our hands. Dispose of your trash in municipal dumps."

4 The trend to using campers and trailers continues. If you use a spot as a hunting base, leave it clean—even if you have to pick up after somebody else. Maine law provides for a fine of up to $100 and or ten days in jail for persons convicted of littering.
